

Got Camp?!

Join Professor Len Saxe

To explore Pathways to Lifelong Jewish Engagement

November 2-3, 2018 Temple Beth-El 118 S. Grand Ave Poughkeepsie 845.454.0570 info@tbeny.org

Scholar in Residence Professor Len Saxe

Director, Cohen Center for Modern Jewish Studies
Director, Steinhardt Social Research Institute
Klutznick Professor of Contemporary Jewish Studies, Brandeis University

Professor Saxe is one of the leading scholars of contemporary Jewish life. He studies the demography of American Jewry, Jewish education, Diaspora-Israeli relationships, and the development of Jewish identity. His studies of Birthright Israel, Jewish summer camps, intermarriage, and the landscape of American Jewry provide a fresh assessment of Jewish life and how we can sustain vibrant Jewish communities.

Friday Evening, November 2

Intergenerational dinner and program including summer camp celebration, Israeli style dinner, and lecture

- 5:00pm Family Activities with Dinner starting at 5:45pm

- 6:40pm Musical Kabbalat Shabbat (social hall)

- 7:15pm Traditional Ma'ariv with discussion, Jewish Peoplehood Starts at Home

Dinner is $5 kids (2-12) * $10 adults (13 and above) * $36 family price * Paid RSVP by 10/31/18

Saturday Morning, November 3

9:30am Shabbat services begin

12:15pm Challenges as Opportunities How Assimilation, Anti-Semitism and Anti Israel Bias can strengthen Jewish Life. Discussion with Professor Saxe takes place during Kiddush luncheon.

Help with the weekend, meals and greeting, sign-up here

The scholar in residence program at Temple Beth-El has been sponsored by the William & Sadie Effron Speaker's Fund. All are welcome, lectures are free and open to the public.